IWRM Action Hub

RESOURCE

The Recognition of Indigenous Customary Law in Water Resource Management

|

Author(s)
Craig, Donna Gachenga, Elizabeth

Description / Abstract

There is an inextricable link between indigenous rights, human rights and sustainable development. In this paper we consider the role of indigenous customary law in the sustainable management of water resources. We propose legal pluralism as the more effective context for recognition of indigenous customary law for sustainable water resource management as opposed to functional recognition or other minimalist forms of recognition.

Publication year
2010

Publisher
Journal of Water Law

Keywords
Indigenous Peoples Customary Law
Language English
View resource

Related IWRM Tools

Tool

Water Allocation Regimes

A2.03

Source URL: https://iwrmactionhub.org/resource/recognition-indigenous-customary-law-water-resource-management